“ I first saw Amanda when she was working at Howards Tires and told her I admired her saddle purse.. Then Bob and I become acquainted with Amanda again at Chevron and considered her a good friend even though we were not close friends. This is when we both realized we were neighbors. I remember one day, I drove to the Chevron with my Pitbull (Malcolm). Boots was standing by the ice boxes. Malcolm jumped out (leashed) and Amanda offered to hold him when I went inside. Several times I ran into her in Walmart when she had her grandkids. What I know of Amanda is that she was a kind and gentle person. She will be missed. Prayers for her family.
