

Flora Mae Foster

January 4, 1935 - January 27, 2016

Flora Mae (Bozeman) Foster died peacefully on January 27, 2016 at Dadeville Healthcare Center in Dadeville AL. She not only was a wife, mother, grandmother and a great grandmother, but she was also a majorette, tumbler, stand on your head, country gospel piano playing, alto singing, red velvet cake baking, crappie catching, breast cancer surviving, lung cancer surviving, my way or the highway kind of woman. She was a Myrtle Street neighbor in Columbiana for fifty-two years before moving to Dadeville in July.

“ I think I have known Flora Mae all of my life. I always loved her for her loving and caring way with her friends. We had so much fun in band at SCHS and also fondly remember her time as a majorette. Most of all she considered us relatives once she started her life long love with Mac Foster who was related on my Dad's side of the family. All the Fosters were such dear Christian people. Love for a dear friend. See you someday in Heaven.

“ Flora was indeed a very dear friend, having touched my life in numerous ways, including that arising out of our mutual employment at the former First National Bank of Columbiana in 1954 and later. Thank you Flora Mae. R. I. P.

“ We're going to miss Flora Mae. She was always fun to talk to when we came to visit with Melissa and Tom, or we bumped into her around town. And back when I lived in Alabama I had many a delightful conversation with Mom's cousin, and Melissa's mom, Flora Mae. Kevin and Pat
