“ I went to Wilsonville Baptist Church with Mrs. Frances Lokey for years. I remember her quiet smile that lit up her face every time we met. I will always remember her sweet hugs she was so generous with each time we were together in church. I looked forward to seeing her each Sunday and found myself looking for her in anticipation of her loving kindness to me. I was able to go with the young at heart choir to sing at the assisted living facility in Hoover where she went for awhile. I remember her face lighting up as her brothers and sisters in Christ sang for her and the other seniors. I was visiting someone else in the Columbiana Rehab Center a few years ago when I saw her name on a door. Of course I had to stop and get a hug. She didn't remember my name but she remembered me. She was a blessing to me and now I know she is a blessing to the other angels in heaven. This old earth is a better place for her having lived here all these years. God bless her family for the loss of this sweet lady. Our loss is heaven's gain. May God give you all peace. Frances Sides

“ I will never forget meeting Ms.Lokey for the first time. I had just married Wayne Blankenship and he introduced me to her at church. She was one of the kindest, and sweetest people I have had the pleasure of meeting. God bless your family and you be comforted in remembering her life and the pleasure she shared with so many!!
