“ I asked Franko how he got the name "Franko". His immediate response was - I can't tell you that. If I did I'd have to kill you!. Then he told me it was his cb handle when he drove trucks. Didn't know how to take him when I first et him. With his first response to anything, you never knew if he was serious. After being around him a while, getting used to him and the way he said things, I really got yo know and love him. Each time I walked in his house it was something like "How are you doing (my friend)"? Franko, you will really be missed. ”
