“ Although I didn't really know Mr Carden, I know Carrie. Carrie loved her daddy and dreaded the day she would have to say goodbye. These two were close, so by knowing Carrie, I feel like she reflects her father. She always talked about her dad with respect and love, told stories about him that helped me get to know the two of them. My heart goes out to your family. Each of us grieves in our own way, some tearfully and quietly , and some with anger and words of remorse. Most people do a little of everything. However you cope is okay. Take your time. Know there are people out there who will listen when you want to talk or cry. We'll listen when you need to scream. I'll hug you when you want me to. Lots of love. Cynthia
