“ I feel privileged of being able to serve your father his meals for the past 3 years. Enjoying our talks about sports, the news, and could i tell him what kind of plant, flower, etc was growing in his yard. I will never forget the 1st time i met your Dad, he came out wearing the brown shorts that someone bought him with suspenders holding them up, we always laughed about his wardrobe selection. I will definitely miss him but he will hold a special place in my heart. He is walking the streets of gold with the love of his life beside him. RIP my friend love, Darlene and Robert McManus
