“ Iâ€™m sorry for your recent loss and I would like to extend my condolences to you and may â€œthe Father of tender mercies and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our tribulation,â€ (2 Cor. 1:3, 4). Give you comfort during this difficult time, because Our Loving God knows how painful it is when we lose someone in death. In light of this, â€œthe hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come outâ€ (John 5:28, 29). Please find comfort in the bibleâ€™s promises.
