“ To the family of Tom, I know how you must miss him. No matter how hard we try to prepare for losing a loved one, it is always harder than even imagined. Please know that you are in my thoughts and prayers. But, oh to have had a love that hurts so much to lose!

“ To Tom's bereaved family: Please accept my sincere condolences on your loss. I was a boyhood Shelby friend of Reeder, and often heard Reeder speak kindly of his older brother Tom. Even though Tom has "crossed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees," as the great Confederate General Stonewall Jackson said just before his death, Tom's beloved memories, cherished by all of you, are still there to comfort you--like bright sunshine on a cold day or a cool breeze on a warm day. No death, no grave, no coffin can ever take away those undying memories. They are yours to keep, forever and ever, continually gushing out for you with the effortless ease of an artesian well. I pray that the balmy hand of Christ will ease your bereavement at the loss of your loved one.
