“ There will never be another Martha. She leaves this earth too early because she did so much for others for so long. She was hard worker, selfless friend, mother, grandmother, sister, daughter and devoted caregiver. She never walked away from responsibility or giving a helping hand even if she needed to and it hurt her to do so. Hard headed and feisty, she was a pillar and a southern belle from the old school. This has shocked and grieved many which is testament to her unwaivering character.
