“ Dear Diane, Beverly and Family,

I am so sadden to hear that Paul passed away. I have wonderful memories of Paul, James Collins, and Teddy Milam at Lester Elem. School and Trap Hill High School. He was a good friend. We were both at Marshall Univ. freshman year. That was the last time I saw him. When I have visited school friends over the years, Paul's name always comes up and we have wondered where he was living and how he was doing.

I'm happy to hear he was happily married to you, Diane. He was a wonderful person and deserved love.

If possible, could you or Beverly email me some photos of Paul and you over the years? I'll be visiting WV in Sept. and will share the photos with our classmates. It would mean a lot to all of us.

*My sincere condolences,

It is now Aug 31, 2017. This is the first time I, Diane, Paul's wife, have seen this page. I must tell you that after 3 1/2 months to find this and read this has left me reeling a bit. Please know that I would have responded Kay, had I seen this, because there is nothing more important in my life than sharing my husband. I am ready to talk about him ad infinitum. He is the greatest part of my heart and I will never be the same without him. Thank you for inquiring about him. And please feel free to respond to my email.....if it's pictures you would like, I have them. Thank you for caring enough to write. You know, it is 3 months later; but the pain is no less visible and the healing is still yet ahead of me. Time now means very little.....it's all just loss.

“ I met Paul Snuffer at a college reunion in Dallas, TX. His wife, Diane, and I had been coeds at that college but Paul had not attended. He was an easy person to talk to and it seemed that I kept bumping into him more than some others at that reunion. I was glad to see that he was happy to be there with his wife - even if he didn't know hardly anyone there. Later, when Diane and I became friends on Facebook, I understood much better why he was happy to have gone to a college reunion that wasn't his own. He dearly loved Diane and would do anything to make her happy.

I'm so glad for the years that they had together. Like many others, I was hoping they would have many more. It wasn't to be. Still, a man like Paul leaves a very good impression of how wonderful a man in love with his wife can be. He will be missed.

My darling Sue.....should you see this. I have just now seen this page for the first time. I don't know how I missed it except after his passing, I wasn't 100% there. Thank you for these beautiful sweet words. The thought that you saw his love for me; that you could recognize how much I meant to him moves me greatly, to tears. I am so blessed having been loved by him and as you know I WAS. But so was he; loved by me. He was the most beautiful part of my life. He gave of himself so freely and I hope I did the same. I will never be whole in his absence. These 3 1/2 months have taught me that. It will always be as if a part of me went with him. We were such a team and completed each other. Thank you for taking the time to write this lovely tribute. You have given me strength today and I will refer back to this many many times over the years, I am sure. Much love to you!

Thank you so much for this Roger, James and Teddy. Paul spoke of you all so often and so warmly. His memories of his school days and his friendships were very important to him. And he did have some stories. But above all, his time playing basketball seem to stand out in my mind as if it were a shining time in his memory. Filled with joy. Paul had a capacity to truly feel and not be ashamed of his feelings. A gift for everyone who knew him. Thank you for this note. And please accept my apologies for not responding sooner. I didn't know of this page; and am so glad I found it today; even these 3 1/2 months down the road. The hole that he has left in my heart will not be healing any time soon.....so time really doesn't mean all that much. But I feel so remiss for not responding sooner. Thank you all very very much for your kindness.

“ Condolences for Diane and family at this difficult time. It was a long tough well fought battle. The resilience they both showed is remarkable. He was such a lucky man to found love again with such a wonderful woman and build a life any man would be proud to have. The last few months have been a struggle but the bonus years he had were quite a gift. I'm sure we all were very inspired by both of them, and can hopefully draw from that strength in our own lives. The most important thing is although it is tragic, all who love them both will be glad for the peace they will both receive.

Love,

Dear Tina.....Your lovely words have touched me so close to my heart. I can't believe that I am only now seeing them for the first time on Aug 31. I didn't even know of the existence of this page; but I was a bit in a fog for a long time. And in truth, have not moved far away from that fog. It has been an arduous journey these last 3+ months and I have miles to go. Thank you Tina for seeing in us what we hoped we were sharing and not the pain that we were feeling. The last 3+ years were a holy torment in so many ways and when I look back I wonder how we ever managed them. I now know that God led us to continue to live and love in the very best way we could. To share each other together and with others. I will never regret a minute with your Dad.....but I will regret each minute I didn't sit and talk with him and give him my whole heart. Because today, if I had the chance, I would only tell him how every heart beat was his. There are miracles and there are fairytales; I know because I have lived on. Thank you my dear. And dear Sweet Sandie, thank you. I will never forget late night/early morning messages to you when we were both hurting so very much and feeling our foreboding loss so closely. Your precious Charles is now doing so well.....and I must admit envy. If I had only one 24 hour period again with my darling Paulie, what I wouldn't give. I would be all that is happy on this planet. Take it and embrace it. Every minute. The gift is still yours. And thank you for caring. And dear Georgia.....he would have loved knowing that somehow others viewed us a model of love and a good marriage. He would have also told you that in many ways we were like oil and water trying to find our way to the perfect meld. Beginning a marriage after the half century mark is bound to have inherent issues. But I do believe when you deeply love; when you share your "secret place" that only love will shine through. And apparently ours did. I was so blessed to have loved and been love by him; and now I must learn to live without that blessing. I hang on to every memory and every moment. Thank you for sharing this with....."us." Love to you my Georgia Peach.
