“ There just aren't any right words to say. It's upsetting that Scott had to go, but rewarding to know that he is healed in the Kingdom with our Heavenly Father and probably have a blast too. He always looked at the positive side of everything. It seemed no matter where Scott went he always had a good time and never met a stranger. He was a friend that you always want in your corner. And he would always tell me that I had on the wrong color the day we could wear our favorite team colors at work. It's not gonna be the same without you Scott, bye.

“ While I did not know Scott very well, he was always kind, funny, and considerate. A real gentleman in every sense of the word. I will miss seeing him come in to work speaking and smiling at everyone. I can just picture him walking around Heaven with Jesus and with a big smile on his face. I do not believe anyone can doubt that Scott is in the very presence of God at this moment with no more pain or tears. While we are missing him and crying tears of sorrow. Scott and all of Heaven are rejoicing over the fact that one of God's children is home. My heart goes out to the family and all they have been through and are going through in the days and months to come. God is with you in this time and throughout the rest of your life here on earth but you will see Scott again and will have a glorious reunion at our final home with God.
